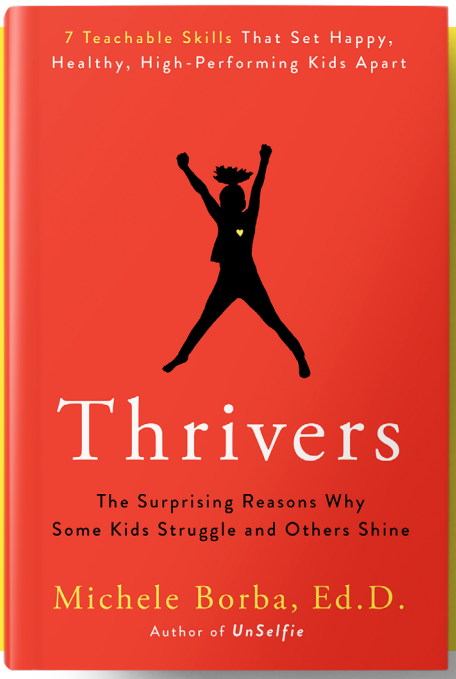
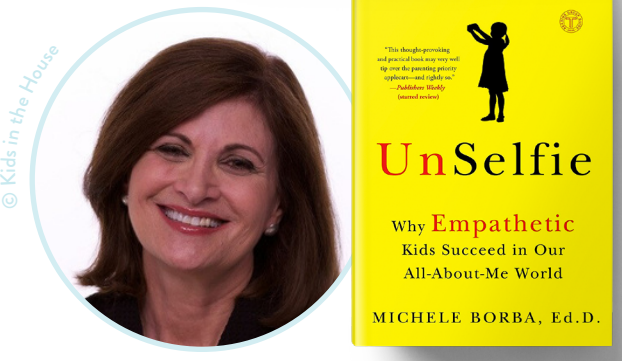
Seven Teachable Traits That Set Happy, High-Performing Kids Apart

The bestselling author of UnSelfie explains why the old markers of accomplishment like grades and test scores are no longer reliable predictors of success in the 21st century—and offers seven teachable traits that will safeguard our kids for the future.





Michele Borba, Ed.D., is an internationally renowned educational psychologist and an expert in parenting, bullying, and character development. She is a regular NBC contributor who appears frequently on Today and has been featured as an expert on Dateline, The View, Dr. Phil, NBC Nightly News, Fox & Friends, Dr. Oz, and The Early Show, among many others.
